Invoicing App — Driver Guide

This guide walks you through submitting your biweekly invoice, checking your pay, and viewing your past invoices — from your phone or computer.

1. Getting Started

Open the link your operations team gave you. Bookmark it on your phone's home screen so it's quick to find next time.

On the home screen, tap Driver Portal.

2. Logging In

1. Select your name from the dropdown list.
2. Enter your 4-digit PIN — this was given to you by operations.
3. Tap Unlock.

Your PIN is personal. Don't share it with other drivers — it's what keeps your invoices private, so nobody else can see or submit under your name. If you forget it, ask operations — only they can look it up or set a new one.

3. Submitting an Invoice

Step 1 — Set your pay period

Tap the Period start and Period end boxes. A calendar pops up — tap the date you want.

Step 2 — Add your loads

Tap + Add load for each load you completed. For each one, fill in:

- Date — when the load happened.
- Pickup — where you picked up.
- Destination (tax) — the province the load ends in. This decides your tax rate: ending in Quebec = 5% tax, ending in Ontario = 13% tax.
- Price — the amount for this load, before commission and tax are taken out.

- Reference number — tap whichever type applies (TL#, BOL#, RM#, or Other) and type the number.
- Drop-off location(s) — where you delivered. Tap + Add another drop-off if there was more than one stop on this load.

Made a mistake on a load? Tap ■ Remove this load to delete it and start that one over. You can add as many loads as you need for the period.

Step 3 — Check your estimated pay

As you fill in your loads, the Estimated pay box near the bottom updates automatically.

Step 4 — Preview

Once everything is entered, tap Preview invoice. You'll see every load listed with the commission and tax broken out, and your total pay at the bottom. If something's wrong, tap Back & edit to fix it before continuing.

Step 5 — Approve & submit

Once everything looks right, tap Approve & submit. This sends your invoice — with a PDF copy attached — to operations, and to you as well if you have an email on file.

Double-check before you approve. Approving confirms that all the loads and amounts you entered are correct.

4. After You Submit

- You'll see a confirmation screen showing your invoice number (like INV-0007).
- Operations receives an email with a PDF copy of your invoice attached.
- If you have an email on file, you'll get a copy too — check with operations if you're not receiving these.

5. Viewing Your Past Invoices

1. Tap My invoices at the top of the driver portal.
2. You'll see every invoice you've ever submitted. Tap one to expand it and see the full load breakdown.
3. Tap ■ View PDF to open the PDF copy of that invoice.

You will only ever see your own invoices here — never another driver's, and nobody else can see yours.

6. Editing an Invoice

Made a mistake after submitting? You can fix it without creating a duplicate:

1. Open My invoices, find the invoice, and tap it to expand.
2. Tap  Edit.
3. Make your changes the same way you entered them the first time.
4. Tap Save changes.

This updates the same invoice — same invoice number — it does not create a second one. Operations automatically receives an updated PDF copy.

7. Switching Drivers / Logging Out

Tap Switch driver at the top of the screen at any time to log out. Always do this before handing the phone or device to someone else.

8. Quick Tips

- Your drop-off province decides your tax rate — ending in Quebec is 5%, ending in Ontario is 13%.
- Your commission percentage is set individually by operations, and may be different from other drivers — that's normal.
- If a button doesn't respond or something looks stuck, try refreshing the page.
- If you're not sure about something on your invoice, ask operations before submitting — it's much easier to fix before you approve.
